

Example of Research RN Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is hiring for a research RN. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for research RN

- Identifies opportunities to improve research practices and patient satisfaction by serving or leading teams as a change agent to launch innovations in patient care/satisfaction, clinical research, or supporting a healthy workforce
- Serves as a role model of professional nursing practice as demonstrated by adherence to ethical practices during the conduct of clinical trials to protect the rights and well-being of patients and the collection of quality data
- Provides a safe environment for patients, families, and clinical staff at all time through compliance with all federal, state, and professional regulatory standards as issued through OSHA and the CDC
- Ensures secure, accurate inventory of study medications/supplies
- Ensures current temperature logs for all research medications, or delegates as appropriate and promptly reports temperature excursions to appropriate personnel
- Participates in St
- Responsible for knowing their legal scope of practice and maintain clinical competence with regards to skills under license or certificate
- Supports team effort, exhibits willingness to accomplish tasks, follows through on tasks until they are completed
- The NRC will be responsible for all data reporting via source documents including adverse event reporting
- Work in coordination with the Regulatory Documentation Specialist (RDS) to maintain of complete regulatory files will be

- Minimum of one (1) to three (3) years job-related experience required
- Current Florida Nursing license in good standing required
- Valid American Heart Association BLS upon hire required
- Nursing experience required
- Pediatric nursing experience preferred
- At least 6 months of experience required