

Example of Revenue Specialist Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is hiring for a revenue specialist. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for revenue specialist

- Coordinates with various departments to ensure accurate data is captured within our systems to maximize revenue and minimize expense exposure
- Responsible for accurate and timely billing of railroad receivables including freight, non-freight, accessorial and payable accruals
- Develop business drivers based monthly and quarterly revenue forecasts for small business segment
- Understand key revenue drivers including unit volumes, ARPU, pricing offers, product mix, channel mix , and develop robust forecasts by geography and by sales channel
- Proactively identify risks and opportunities and escalate appropriately
- Provide insights on financial performance and present recommendations to the leadership team and influence decision making on pricing and marketing
- Develop and deliver impactful executive-level presentations
- Review remittance advices for denials and the appeal process, and finalizing department audit summaries
- Acts as the first point of contact at the hospital for issues with claims reported by biller (holds)
- Examine medical records to ensure that patient bills are correct and making sure that insurance claims comply with government regulations

Qualifications for revenue specialist

- Experience conducting financial analysis - Preferred

- Experience working in an internal and/or external audit capacity - Preferred
- Must possess strong organizational skills, be detailed oriented and a self-starter
- Must be analytical and able to perform research
- Ability to manage multiple tasks under restricted time elements