Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for a scientist machine learning. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for scientist machine learning

- Work with cross-functional team members to identify and prioritize actionable, high-impact data insights across a variety of core business areas
- Acts as internal consultant, advocate, mentor and change agent
- Collaborate and communicate with software developers in the translation of research model to production code
- Collaborate and communicate with data integration teams when data quality issues are discovered
- Maintains appropriate knowledge of clinical systems used across veterinary healthcare industry
- Assist with the transfer of research prototypes into production
- Be able to balance speed vs
- Work closely with the Growth, Merchandising, and Development teams to brainstorm on functional and technical solutions
- Be an advocate for data science and educate stakeholders on how it can be used to solve problems, deepen insights, and inform business decisions
- Aligns strategy with business requirements

Qualifications for scientist machine learning

- 3+ years experience with R, other statistical packages a plus (Python, SAS, SPSS, MatLab)
- Advanced degree in a quantitative field (e.g., Statistics, Engineering,

- Experience in of the commonly used parallel/distributed systems/technologies (Apache Hadoop, Apache Spark, MPI, CUDA, ...) is a strong plus
- Skilled with Java, C++, or other programming language, with R, MATLAB, Python or similar scripting language
- Knowledge of natural language processing techniques and neural networks
- Strong programming skills in at least one object oriented programming language (Java, Scala, C++, Python, R)