Our growing company is looking for a senior analyst, business intelligence. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for senior analyst, business intelligence

- Prepares and distributes daily, weekly, and monthly subvention program reports (buying statistics, Loyalty Program, daily/monthly/YTD bookings,) to all stakeholders, including variance analysis, trend lines and benchmarking against best practices
- Responds to manufacturer representative inquiries on discrepancies and irregularities on manufacturer subvention program reports
- Position may include other duties as determined by the Technical Architect - BI
- Work with business stakeholders to identify and document requirements for the Global Business Intelligence Framework and Enterprise Data Warehouse
- Work with the BI Engineers as a Solutions Architect to design an EDW that can support and scale with the business requirements
- Deliver high quality, scalable BI solutions to complex business challenges and requirements
- Understand complex business challenges
- Identify opportunities to use data to improve business performance
- MicroStrategy Center of Excellence- Maintain MicroStrategy patterns and best practices
- Focus on User Adoption by improving user experience the on Business Intelligence Enterprise Reporting and other MicroStrategy systems

Qualifications for senior analyst, business intelligence

- Experience in all phases of business process lifecycle or IT project management
- Experience with authoring use cases and technical specifications for complex applications
- Microsoft Office application proficiency
- Comfortable with technical terminology and concepts
- Good understanding of Microsoft Business Intelligence stack, in particular hands on experience of PowerBI including PowerPivot