Our company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of senior intelligence analyst. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for senior intelligence analyst

- Document business processes and workflows, and analyzing how Business Intelligence solutions can be delivered to support those processes and workflows
- The design, development and support of corporate data analytics
- Analyze large data sets of structured, semi-structured and unstructured data to discover key insights and collaborate with business partners to deliver value through these insights
- Measure sales performance, analyze advisor behavior and trends through data mining, research business problems and create predictive models that help analyze these business problems
- Overseeing that all data analysis and reporting (scheduled & ad hoc) is performed accurately, consistently, and on time
- Training of personnel in Microsoft Access, Microsoft Excel, SQL server, Relational Database Design, and MapInfo Professional
- List in descending order of importance
- Use clear and concise language, including active verbs
- Define acronyms, if they are to be used
- Develop the product roadmap for all Sales BI initiatives, both by reviewing requests from the business and by proactively identifying opportunities for operational improvement through your

- 3 years of administrative and development experience with Business Intelligence software reports/documents
- Experience with freeform SQL
- DBA Knowledge/experience (Oracle, SQL Server 2008-2012)
- Experience with reporting workflow and lifecycle
- Knowledge of the financial retirement space
- A minimum of ten (10) years of directly related intelligence analysis experience supporting Federal Government Law Enforcement Agencies and/or other U.S. military organizations