

Example of Specialist, Electrical Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of specialist, electrical. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for specialist, electrical

- Cooperates with others, plans and performs operational maintenance to machinery and equipment associated with plant operations
- Performs the job of trainer for production, apprentice and other craft personnel as related to craft work
- Includes participation in the execution of training plans, providing input for training records and input into the determination of certification status for each employee
- Acts as management, supplier and customer liaison
- Assists with the developmental and/or experimental projects
- Uses fork lift and other related material handling machinery
- Assist in the preparation of conceptual design for assigned transmission and distribution station projects
- Develop and prepare plot plans and elevation drawings for outdoor station equipment including duct bank design and drawings for substation projects
- Develop and prepare Switchgear room and Control room layout drawings for the substation projects
- Develop and prepare lighting and cable tray design and drawings for the substation projects

Qualifications for specialist, electrical

- Minimum – 4 years in operations, engineering or related field
- Manufacturing experience required – Food Manufacturing preferred

- A willingness to work rotational shifts if necessary, including days, evenings, and nights, overtime, weekends, and holidays, as required
- Electrical and/or Instrumentation Trade qualifications
- At least 5 years in B2B marketing job, preferably in relevant markets (eg