

Example of Storage Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of storage. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for storage

- Manage, design and implement high-end disk (SAN & NAS) and tape storage systems
- Responsible for supporting storage applications and networks and resolving I/O issues related to business applications
- Research new storage management technologies and techniques and provide recommendations
- HP SAN Storage within an Enterprise environment, including XP / P9500 and EVA arrays, and experience of HP software including Command view, Thin Provisioning and Auto LUN
- An understanding of object and compliance related technologies and applications
- A Knowledge of Server and Network Technologies and System Security
- A Bachelor's Degree with a concentration in an Information Technology-related discipline (or equivalent qualification / work experience)
- Able to work autonomously and as part of a team, sharing knowledge to help others in a fast paced environment
- Analytic with technical and problem resolution skills
- Able to document and clearly articulate test results, findings and benefits of any product

Qualifications for storage

- Assume 24x7 on-call duty as assigned
- At least 4 years experience in Deep understanding of the market place

- Expert knowledge of SAN/NAS design, implementation, clustering, replication, high availability, MPIO and performance tuning
- 3+ years of experience with Linux/Unix systems administration, setup and support
- Experience with EMC storage arrays and Isilon in specific is an advantage