

Example of Technical Product Owner Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is searching for experienced candidates for the position of technical product owner. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for technical product owner

- Work with internal and external customer experience teams to translate requirements into creative, effective and fit-for-purpose customer journeys
- Produce recommendations that reflect an understanding of key business drivers including adherence to regulatory and mandatory processes, risk, cost and timescales
- Successful product creation, development, delivery and ongoing operation
- Exceptional customer and colleague engagement and satisfaction
- Successful delivery of projects to agreed metrics
- Recognition as the go-to expert for your product, delivering insight and knowledge that helps us delight our colleagues and customers
- Define video functionality and UX per platform based on data driven decisions to drive user engagement for our customers and demonstrate business value for our stakeholders
- Be the master of built, measure and learn cycle across the video platform products
- Master of Agile development and understand when to apply waterfall methods to capture and deliver requirements
- Drive and own backlog management

Qualifications for technical product owner

- Knowledge of modern enterprise systems and their design
- Several years' experience in information technology and of a product

- Experience of working in multinational teams
- The ability to communicate with development teams also on a technical level
- A good understanding of software design and architecture