Our growing company is hiring for a technical writer, senior. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for technical writer, senior

- A track record of successfully working with development teams, QA, and technical writing to deliver quality documentation
- Prepares or commissions graphics, diagrams, animation, and charts to complement technical writing
- Manage documents as software is released to ensure accuracy
- Performs these functions in two main business areas – proposals and software development projects
- Suggest new methods of producing content relevant to a research audience, videos, tutorials
- Attend and actively contribute to scrum team meetings
- Bachelor's degree and (ideally) 7+ years of experience as a Technical Writer
- Knowledge of order management and other small business processes a plus
- Experience with JavaScript web technologies a plus
- Researches and builds knowledge about products, services, technology, or concepts to be documented

Qualifications for technical writer, senior

- Modular writing with XML/DITA
- Ability to handle multiple assignments simultaneously in a fast-paced environment
- General experience with Microsoft development technologies and tools, such as Visual Studio, SQL Server
- BS in any scientific or engineering discipline, such as Computer Science or

- Thoroughly understand the technical solutions we build and the documentation content that introduce, explain and troubleshoot our software
- Understand the audiences for our documentation and be acutely aware of the important contribution technical documentation adds to a successful user experience