

Example of Technologist, Medical Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is hiring for a technologist, medical. Please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications. While this is our ideal list, we will consider candidates that do not necessarily have all of the qualifications, but have sufficient experience and talent.

Responsibilities for technologist, medical

- Collaborate with Project Manager with client requests and concerns
- Works with the project team to ensure lab testing meets project requirements
- Perform coagulation and special coagulation testing including factor levels, lupus anticoagulant, Factor V Leiden for FDA applications of Sysmex CA1500, CS-5100, and CS-2500 coagulation analyzers
- Evaluate and report results on specimens received for analysis
- Trains and instructs new employees and students
- Maintain and keep current skills and knowledge for the job through continued education programs
- Analyze and evaluate quality control checks to assure accurate patient results
- Maintain ongoing and overall quality of the total testing process, relative to meeting patient's and customer's needs
- Perform a variety of diagnostic testing and follows established guidelines for the prioritization of work
- Evaluate testing results for accuracy and appropriate intervention, perform computer data entry and maintains expertise with computer systems

Qualifications for technologist, medical

- The disclosure or requests that occur on a routine or recurring basis include patient demographics, condition and laboratory results competency assessment

- Hospital laboratory experience and or clinical internship in hospital setting preferred
- BS Degree from accredited university, or equivalent, preferably with a Medical Technology internship at an
- Bachelor's degree in Medical Technology or biological science is required certification as a Medical Laboratory Scientist or Medical Technologist or eligible to be certified
- Completion of a medical lab science program or Bachelor of Science required