Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for a test automation developer. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for test automation developer

- Accountable for on-time completion of own tasks and leads other team members to be accountable for their tasks
- Guides team in agile practices and development of team epics, user stories, acceptance criteria and tasks
- Facilitates conversations between developers, testers, business, product owners and stakeholders
- Serves as liaison to other teams to help them implement test automation and QA strategies
- Remains current with developments and trends in agile principles and areas of expertise
- Participates in company development & actuarial Communities of Practice and other professional software development associations or activities
- Provide support to users in different regions
- Develop software solutions by studying enhancement requests
- Assists team with problem resolution and decision making
- Designs, codes, and tests components of test automation for complex or cross-functional systems, sub-systems or other technical solutions

Qualifications for test automation developer

- Improve quality using automation with effective collaborative approach with delivery teams and development teams

- Look for opportunities to expand automation working with delivery partners
- Provide insight, information and recommendations on industry trends and significant issues with training and oversight to ETL team
- Excellent knowledge of test automation tools, with a preference for Cucumber, Selenium, JUnit, Fitnesse