

Example of Trading Analyst Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is looking for a trading analyst. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for trading analyst

- Serving as a liaison with senior business managers to stay current with business developments and trends
- Elicit, analyze and document business requirements, business rules and data sources, and work with development teams throughout system implementation and delivery
- As key member of the project team, you will work with the project manager, development manager, developers, business analysts, and quality assurance teams to ensure that the project is delivered on time and within budget
- Develop knowledge and become subject matter expert resource, supporting development of application roadmap
- Prepare risk assessment framework documents maintain the borrow rating) database to ensure that all amendments to ratings are record on an expedited manner
- Initiate and maintain contact with trading professionals, Group Risk management, Global Trading Documentation and Credit Transaction Management
- Assist in the preparation and reporting of portfolio statistics and other management information reports in a timely and accurate manner
- Completion of assigned projects and other duties efficiently and effectively in order to support the team meet planned and unplanned demands
- Demonstrate and apply understanding and knowledge of markets, products, processes, regulations and systems required to deliver on business objectives
- Partner with Corporate Resource Group teams to implement and develop policies to satisfy regulatory obligations

-
- To be part of the Index trading team and participate in managing the Index mono and multi-underlying books
 - To price, hedge and risk manage trades
 - Bachelor's Degree in Accounting, Business Management, Finance, Engineering, Mathematics preferred but will consider relevant experience in lieu of a degree
 - Experience building and working with databases
 - Effective written and verbal communication skills to determine business needs and explain results
 - Knowledge of market structure and equity trading would be beneficial