

Example of UI Architect Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of UI architect. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for UI architect

- Drive the architecture and design of modern user interfaces based on consumer design principles for next generation user interface platform
- Translating designs and wireframes into high quality code, work with the UX team
- Design and develop code with emphasis on quality, security, performance, scalability and automation of the testing
- Involved in every aspect of the product development process, from early feature concept design, product development to testing and validation
- Lead the team technically and contribute individually at framework level
- Do technical analysis of new tools as part of the innovation
- User story and requirement analysis, estimate and plan implementation effort of features
- Responsible for software design and system architecture on medium and complex applications
- Work essentially in JS frameworks such as Angular JS, Backbone JS, Node JS, Required JS or Knockout
- Creating responsive & advanced UI components such as visual Layout/Page Editor with grid systems such as Bootstrap or Flexbox

Qualifications for UI architect

- You value tests, and have authored tests for both the client and server

- Experience working on complex interactive projects requiring extensive use of patterns, design principles support, responsive e-design, and high-level content organization
- Ability to guide complex information systems from initial concept to production and post-launch evaluation
- Individuals must be self-starters with a track record of meeting commitments
- Bachelor's degree preferred in software engineering or equivalent experience