

Example of UX Design Lead Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for an UX design lead. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for UX design lead

- Work with project managers and internal departments to estimate against staffing needs, schedules, roadmaps, and other operational details to successfully track and drive inflight projects
- Create mock-ups, prototypes, wireframes, task flows, site maps, personas, and assorted visual communication to showcase key aspects of a proposed experience and how it reconciles business and user needs with brand considerations
- Inspire and advocate for innovative work, ideas and planning, centered on human and consumer insights
- Collaborate with channel, product, and Omni-path leads on ideal experience, initiative identification and prioritization
- Work collaboratively with other leads, designers, researchers, strategists, and partner teams to create the ideal customer experience to maximize benefits in customer sentiment and behavior
- Assess work for usability and desirability and appropriateness for the brand
- Expected to enhance the brand by creating unique and memorable experiences only our customers/clients could own
- Active role in driving and meeting key experience performance criteria and fostering improvement of brand through delivered experiences
- Drive the preparation and delivery of user testing, focus groups, guerrilla testing, shareholder interviews, client-facing workshops, and other research efforts to determine key success factors for a project
- Analyze, synthesize, and report back on lessons learned to clients and

Qualifications for UX design lead

- Makes smart and timely decisions
- Work with the team to deeply understand customer needs and characteristics
- Gathering and generating ideas (from colleagues or other inspirations) that can solve for or has potential to solve for customer or company problems/challenges and incubate these ideas into prototypes
- Lead the scoping and execution of user research, testing and interviews to develop insights that shape the proposition, experience, interaction patterns and design decisions
- Lead the planning and hosting of stakeholder and customer workshops
- Create design concepts and prototypes that explore and address user needs and incorporate new functionality into the service in terms of UI and the wider contextual experience