

Example of UX Researcher Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is looking to fill the role of UX researcher. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for UX researcher

- Synthesizing and analyzing metrics of user behavior
- Presenting findings to product and engineering teams
- Helping product and engineering stay innovative
- Plan, design and organize research efforts
- Conduct research with customer, prospect, and banker audiences across the entire product development process
- Working with key stakeholders from all around the business to gather requirements and convert this into a brief
- Gathering all necessary documentation, assets and prototypes for the session
- Running at least 2 full days of research a week
- Identifying the key themes from the session, collating the results, feeding back into the business and making recommendations to all levels of management
- Researching and trialling new UX research methodologies within the lab environment outside of the lab

Qualifications for UX researcher

- BA/BS degree in Anthropology, Human Factors, Psychology, HCI/Computer Science or other related fields or equivalent practical experience
- Bachelor's degree (MA/MS preferred) in Human-Computer Interaction, Human Factors, Engineering Psychology, Experimental Psychology, or other human behavior research related fields
- 0 to 2 years experience as a ux researcher or user researcher

- Work well in a semi-distributed, multidisciplinary team environment
- Ability to gain trust and respect of peers and stakeholders