

Example of Videographer Editor Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is looking to fill the role of videographer editor. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for videographer editor

- Able to adapt PowerPoint templates and presentations in to visual masterpieces for pitching
- Create bespoke creative for pitches and ideas to help bring our ideas to life
- Be curious and look at your work in situ in live campaigns to see how to improve them
- Oversees all facets of video production including pre-production meetings, concept development, script development, filming, production, directing, editing, and archiving
- Collaborates with stakeholders from production to post-production on the creation of original, quality, and brand-specific marketing videos
- Creates, develops, and guides the video concept, conducts interviews, and creates storyboards
- Recruits and schedules talent for video shoots in accordance with department and university policies and procedures
- Determines suitable camera equipment, audio and video recorders, lighting equipment, props, and microphones for individual shoots
- Transports and sets up equipment
- Edits video and audio to ensure quality standards and compliance with the intended message to target audiences

Qualifications for videographer editor

- Degree in Broadcasting, Visual Media Design, Film, Cinematography or related studies
- 2-5 years industry experience as production editor in broadcasting or studio environment
- Displays advance camera operating ability, creative eye and attention to detail
- Has technical knowledge of editing systems Tricaster 8000, sound design, color correction, video production and codec compression standards