

Example of VP, Engineering Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is hiring for a VP, engineering. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for VP, engineering

- Drive and mature deployment of Lean Product Development
- Manage teams located in multiple offices, including international offices and offshore partnerships
- Work with executive team, product management, development, sales, and implementation, clients and prospects to ensure alignment with business and financial goals of the company
- Drive efficiencies in the product and delivery team through the use of tools, processes, and effective resource management
- Manage delivery of multiple and concurrent product releases for different markets and regions
- Communicate progress, schedules, strategy, and plan
- The ideal candidate should be willing to execute and be hands-on
- Research issues and coach others to understand root causes, dependencies and constraints
- Provide timely and clear work direction and delegate to others to deliver outcomes
- Leads the Customer Experience/ employee experience effort for the engineering, maintenance, and construction departments

Qualifications for VP, engineering

- Rigorously set objectives and measure results, and are a calming influence that motivates your teams to go above and beyond
- Significant previous hands-on technical experience, ideally in areas relevant to

- Demonstrates the ability to lead and coach others while driving large-scale transformational ecommerce initiative and projects
- Capable of developing a comprehensive platform performance and scalability strategy while continuously delivering product
- Strong verbal and written communication skills for both individuals and large groups
- Willingness to take calculated risks, and to support risk taking in others