

Example of VP, Product Development Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is hiring for a VP, product development. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for VP, product development

- Conduct process reviews to identify ongoing risks in managing the funds, taking into account any operating events or near misses
- Keep abreast of regulatory changes that impact the iShares fund range in all applicable jurisdictions
- Represent iShares Product in advance planning for external high impact events such as terrorism, market failure or sanctions
- Manage a team responsible for the product management of all EMEA ETFs
- Strategic alliance development & support
- Client governance or advisory boards
- Develop and maintain understanding of client needs and business requirements
- Develop go-to-market strategy for presenting a coordinated portfolio of products/services solutions to take to market
- Collaborate with Sales, Solutions Marketing and Operations leaders and development teams to create differentiated payment accuracy offerings that satisfy clients' value based reimbursement needs
- Work with Operations and Technology teams to map business architecture, technical requirements and operating models for new solutions

Qualifications for VP, product development

- Consistently meets or exceeds goals
- Experience in ideation of new services, development of commercial and functional specifications, development and analysis business cases

period of new listed funds

- Provide monthly presentation to the investment trust Management Committee on development opportunities for the existing investment listed fund range, potential new issues and provide competitor analysis
- Knowledge or previous experience of of the following InvS products - custody, clearing, fund services, securities
- Excellent knowledge of banking and Financial industry